DIVORCE DATAPACK

Dear Prospective Family Law Client:

If you are considering a divorce, we know this can be a very difficult time for you. We would be happy to talk to you if you need to learn more about your rights, duties and options in a divorce. We cannot, however, offer anyone free legal advice.

Your case will require an initial personal consultation so that we can understand the facts of your case and advise you on your rights and duties. We charge $200 for an initial consultation, during which we expect to give you a really good idea of what you can expect to happen in your divorce.

Before we can begin representing you, we will require (1) a signed contract which explains our respective obligations and (2) a legal engagement fee, the size of which will be based on our estimation of the amount of time needed to resolve your case. There is no guarantee, however, that all of your legal expenses will be covered by this Engagement Fee.

Though some of the questions or situations may not apply to your situation, your efforts to complete the attached Divorce DataPack and provide us with copies of any information or documents pertinent to this matter (including copies of all prior court papers, mortgages, bank statements, mortgages, loan documents, credit card statements, paycheck stubs, etc.) will go a long way to help evaluate your Family Law situation and will help to contain your legal expense.

If we are retained as your attorney, you will be billed for the amount of professional time required to adequately represent your interests in this matter. Anything and everything you do to complete the attached Divorce Datapack and to provide as much supporting documentation as possible will help to reduce the amount of attorney and paralegal time required in this action.

Any information you provide will, of course, be kept confidential and you are under no obligation until we each execute a written Engagement Agreement.

Very truly yours,

JAMES K. MURPHY

Concentrating in Family Law Representation
throughout Greater Metropolitan Louisville

THIS IS AN ADVERTISEMENT.

Hoge Partners, PLLC is the successor to Hoge & Associates, a law practice with a four-decade history of providing legal services throughout Metropolitan Louisville, including Jefferson, Oldham, Hardin and Bullitt Counties.

JAMES K. MURPHY

Jim Murphy is the Managing Partner of Hoge Partners, PLLC. He began practicing law in Kentucky in 1993. He graduated magna cum laude from Washington & Lee University and cum laude from the Lewis School of Law at Washington & Lee University.

Prior to joining Hoge & Associates in 2014, Jim's practice with another Louisville firm focused in commercial transactions, real estate and business. Since then, he has refocused his practice on Family Law matters with a special emphasis on associated business and real estate factors. Jim's caseload includes a variety of Family Law matters including domestic violence actions and criminal defense in child support matters as well as processing divorces, child support, child custody and post-divorce litigation. He also has significant appellate experience.

RUTH J. WILKERSON

Ruth Wilkerson is a Partner of Hoge Partners, PLLC. She has been practicing law in Kentucky since 2010. A graduate of Transylvania University in Lexington, Kentucky and the Appalachian School of Law in Grundy, Virginia, Ruth has a varied legal background which included estate planning, workers compensation, personal injury litigation, employment law, civil rights discrimination and sexual harassment.

Ruth has focused on Family Law matters since joining the firm in 2014. She handles both contested and uncontested divorce actions, post-divorce litigation, modifications of child support and maintenance/alimony, disputed parenting matters such as visitation schedules and primary residence, adoption proceedings, child custody and domestic violence proceedings.

WILLIAM L. HOGE, III

Bill Hoge has been practicing law in Louisville since 1972 and focused on Family Law for better than half of that period. He retired from active practice in 2017. Bill remains of counsel to the firm of Hoge Partners, PLLC, providing advice and guidance to attorneys Jim Murphy and Ruth Wilkerson and handling a limited number of cases. He is still a Fellow of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers and formerly served as the Chair of the Family Law Sections for both the Kentucky Bar Association and the Louisville Bar Association. The majority of Mr. Hoge's legal career has been dedicated to Family Law and being of service to people going through the divorce process in Kentucky, individuals needing assistance with post-divorce matters (child support, custody, visitation, etc.), victims of domestic violence, international parental abductions and others situations relating to Domestic Relations law.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

The National Domestic Violence Hotline (www.ndvh.org) defines domestic violence as "a pattern of behavior in any relationship that is used to gain or maintain power and control over an intimate partner." According to the Kentucky Domestic Violence Association (www.kdva.org), domestic violence is "a pattern of coercive behaviors that one person exercises over another."

Regardless of the definition, if you are in an abusive relationship or situation, you must seek out the resources you need to protect yourself and your children from abuse.

You may be in a physically abusive relationship if your partner has ever damaged property when angry (thrown objects, punched walls, kicked doors, etc.); pushed, slapped, bitten, kicked or choked you; abandoned you in a dangerous or unfamiliar place; scared you by driving recklessly; used a weapon to threaten or hurt you; forced you to leave your home; trapped you in your home or kept you from leaving; prevented you from calling police or seeking medical attention; hurt your children or used physical force in sexual situations.

You may be in a sexually abusive relationship if your partner views women as objects and believes in rigid gender roles; accuses you of cheating or is often jealous of your outside relationships; wants you to dress in a sexual way; insults you in sexual ways or calls you sexual names; has ever forced or manipulated you into having sex or performing sexual acts; held you down during sex; demanded sex when you were sick, tired or after beating you; hurt you with weapons or objects during sex; involved other people in sexual activities with you or ignored your feelings regarding sex.

You may be in an emotionally abusive relationship if your partner calls you names, insults you or continually criticizes you; does not trust you and acts jealous or possessive; tries to isolate you from family or friends; monitors where you go, who you call and who you spend time with; does not want you to work; controls finances or refuses to share money; punishes you by withholding affection; expects you to ask permission; threatens to hurt you, the children, your family or your pets or humiliates you in any way.

Have there ever been any episodes of domestic violence or abusive behavior between the two of you prior to or during this marriage?

Yes No

If yes, please explain: _____

Are any DVOs currently in effect? _____

Do you know how to take out an EPO if you need to protect yourself or your children?

Yes No. If "No", ask us or see the Domestic Violence section of our website.

If you have any concerns about your safety or the safety of your children with respect to potential domestic violence, we urge you to talk to us about how to set up a Safety Plan to protect yourself and your children.

CONFIDENTIAL -- Attorney/Client Work Product

Does anyone besides you and your spouse have any custody claim on any minor child of this marriage? If so, please identify.

Please state who (IN YOUR OPINION) is best suited to have legal custody of the children and briefly explain your position.

IMPORTANT DEFINITIONS:

"Primary Residential Parent" currently means the designated parent has the right to make day-to-day decisions on behalf of the child. The other parent has the right to have input into major life decisions (health, education, religion, etc.).

"Joint Custody" means the parties must jointly make all such major life decisions affecting the children (health, education and religion).

"Sole Custody" means one of the has unilateral authority concerning all aspects of the child's life. Sole Custody is granted only very rarely and only in circumstances where the presence of the non-custodial parent in a child's life is proven to place that child in clear and present risk of truly serious injury (i.e., sexual or physical abuse of the child, drug use in the presence of the child, engaging in criminal activity in the presence of the child, neglect of the child, endangering the safety and welfare of the child, etc.)

"Timesharing" is the schedule under which the children are with their respective parents.

What parenting schedule are you and your spouse utilizing at the present time?

FINANCIAL HISTORY OF THE PARTIES

We recommend that you obtain a copy of your credit report and bring that with you on your first appointment. There are several on-line options for obtaining copies of your credit report but most require you to sign up for a monthly fee and additional services. We suggest you try AnnualCreditReport.com, to which we have no connection but it has come highly recommended as a free service of use to divorcing parties.

"AnnualCreditReport.com" is a centralized service for consumers to request free annual credit reports. It was created by the three nationwide consumer credit reporting companies - Equifax, Experian and TransUnion. AnnualCreditReport.com provides consumers with the secure means to request and obtain a free credit report once every 12 months from each of the three nationwide consumer credit reporting companies in accordance with the Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act (FACT Act). AnnualCreditReport.com offers consumers a fast and convenient way to request, view and print their credit reports in a secure Internet environment. We also provide options to request reports by telephone and by mail."

Child Support: Both parents are obligated to contribute to the support of their minor children and the calculation of child support is a mathematical formula proscribed by the Kentucky Legislature based on the combined gross monthly income of the parties (or imputed income if a party is unemployed or voluntarily underemployed)

Do you expect to pay or receive child support? _____

Maintenance: "Maintenance" used to be called "alimony". It is not automatically awarded in divorce, and there are many, many factors which go into the court's determination of whether or not maintenance is appropriate. Included in these factors are (a) length of marriage, (b) disparity in the parties' respective incomes or abilities to earn, (c) educational and employment history of the parties, (d) age of the parties, (e) ages of the parties' minor children, etc.

Do you expect to pay or receive maintenance? _____

Attorney Fees: Generally speaking, it is difficult to negotiate the voluntary payment of your fees by the other spouse; however, if the Court is required to decide, they will reluctantly evaluate disparity in the respective parties' estates and incomes.

Do you expect to ask for a contribution toward your attorney fees from your spouse? _____

Special Factors: Are there any special factors of which we should be aware? Drug abuse, alcoholism, infidelity, child abuse, gambling addiction, mental illness, inheritance, bankruptcy, interfering in-laws, religious differences, cultural incompatibility, etc.

Attached as Part B of this Divorce Datapack is a Verified Disclosure Statement, which the Jefferson Family Court requires be submitted by each party in every divorce case heard in this County.

You need to fill out Part B to the best of your ability. At a minimum, you need to review the Verified Disclosure Statement well enough that, at your initial meeting in our office, you can ask questions about completing it.

A few days after your initial consultation with us and your engagement of our firm as your attorney, we will have another meeting at which time you will need to provide us with your completed Verified Disclosure Statement, with the necessary attachments.

Any required or requested documents that you provide to us will go a long way toward controlling your legal costs in this matter. We can obtain copies of Deeds and Mortgages recorded in Jefferson County in the last 20 years or so. We do not have on-line access to deeds and mortgages in other counties. Any other personal documents will have to be provided by you. In the alternative, we may be able to persuade your spouse to provide these documents, but that process is usually time-consuming and expensive.

If the litigation of your case requires certain documents that you cannot or do not provide to us, we must invest a portion of the retainer you have paid to us in the acquisition of those documents.

We presume that you would prefer to be pro-actively involved in your case and that you would prefer to help control your own legal expenses.

The better the documentation provided by you, the better our opportunities to assist you in this matter.

PERSONAL PROPERTY INVENTORY

Let's face it. One of the most hotly contested aspect of any divorce (after children, after child support and after maintenance) is the division of personal property. We all have "stuff" that's important to us . . . things from our childhood, Grandma's rocking chair, the fur coat given for an anniversary or birthday, favorite pieces of art, collectibles, tools, household appliances, season tickets and on and on and on.

If ending up with any of these things is important to you, then it's up to you to identify everything you and/or your spouse own here. Otherwise, you have a poor chance of getting the items that are important to you. If it's not important enough to list it, then it's not important enough to fight over it!

With a detailed inventory of ALL of the parties' personal property (both marital and non-marital), we can approach mediation or negotiation with the data we need to reach a settlement or proceed to trial to fight over personal property.

Yes, you have to list ALL of the personal property items owned by you jointly or separately by either party! Obviously you don't have to inventory every single pair of socks in the house, but you do have to identify categories of items (i.e., your clothing, your spouse's books, etc.) but specific items valued at $100 or more are probably worthy of being listed separately (TVs, stereos, computers, large appliances, collectibles, jewelry, furniture, power tools, lawn and garden equipment, etc.).

We also have to determine what was paid for each item, what each item is worth today (yard sale or auction values -- not "replacement" costs), what debt is owed on each item today and our position on which party should end up with each item.

You need to either sit down in the various rooms of your house or work from memory if you are no longer in the marital home and identify below ALL of the personal property, household furniture and furnishings, collectibles, jewelry, tools, appliances and other items of value. If you don't know the purchase price or current fair market value today, that's fine. Identifying the personal property is at least one-third of the battle here.

We've tried to explain some of the principles and terminology below. Let us know if you have any questions about this process.

This is an advertisement.

Fair Market Value:

Used personal property has far more value to the person who owns it than the person interested in buying it. The Court must determine "fair market value" ("FMV"), which means "what a willing buyer would give a willing seller". It is very close to an item's value at an auction or in a yard sale.

Nobody is going to pay you what you think your personal property is worth. When filling out the following form, set the value low if you are in doubt. "What would I pay at a yard sale for an identical item in the same condition?"

If you think you should end up with the item, put the Fair Market Value in your column and put it in the other party's column if he/she should end up with it.

Eventual Recipient of Marital Property:

We recommend that you and your spouse make every effort to agree on how to divide your marital possessions, especially furniture, appliances, TVs, stereos, etc.

If you can't agree on how to divide this property, then we'll have to go to the expense of having everything you own appraised. That's going to run you $400 to $1,000, possibly more. Most people are dissatisfied with appraisal values because, frankly, used furniture does not hold much resale value.

Purchase Price:

Try to put down a Purchase Price wherever possible as well as the year an item was purchased.

Non-Marital Property:

Non-marital property is property that was obtained by gift, inheritance or was premarital property or property obtained in exchange for gift, inheritance or premarital property. All Non-Marital Property must have substantial documentation proving ownership. If it involves an inheritance attach any proof from probate records. If it was a gift attach letter or affidavit that property was given to you individually and would not have been given to the other person but for your marriage to them. You cannot have too much proof that property was non-marital.
